MORROW'S STAND ON PROHIBITION WILL BE EXPECTED SOON

Candidate To Face Warm Battle In Jersey Primary

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Dwight W. Morrow, the soft-spoken financier-diplomat whose trail of success in delicate missions has led from Mexico City to London, steps off the Leviathan in New York today straight into one of the greatest tugs of war that any political campaign has seen.

Is he going to be wet or is he going to be dry in his forthright campaign for election to the United States senate?

There is actually more interest in that question in political Washington than there is in the naval treaty which Morrow and his colleagues are bringing back from London.

He has informed friends that he will take a definite stand on the wet-and-dry question, that he will not "passfoot" on the issue. The New Jersey primary is only seven weeks away, and a declaration by Morrow cannot be long delayed.

Both the wets and dries have centered their fire on him. The cables and letters that have pursued him to London with advice on how to meet this issue would fill several trunks. The only reply he has vouchsafed has been that at the proper time he would make known his stand.

It had been thought that Morrow would be unopposed for the Republican nomination in New Jersey. The way had all been paved for Senator David Baird to resign his seat, for the governor to appoint Morrow to the vacancy, and for him to seek the nomination in June as sitting senator.

During his long absence in London, however, developments in the changed situation considerably. Ex-Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, heretofore always dry, supported by the Anti-Saloon League, announced his candidacy in opposition to Morrow and did an astonishing about-face on the prohibition question. Having voted for the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, Frelinghuysen re-

AN ILL WIND-

CHICAGO, April 29.—Bertha, the detective bureau cat, today owes all nine of her lives to Chicago's so-called crime wave.

Bertha was locked in the bureau vault when she went in to take a nap. Hours went by until three men representing the crime wave robbed Carl White of $3,000 in cash and jewelry.

Yes, he could identify their pictures. The photographs were in the vault. Bertha staggered out, with eight-ninths of her lives in bad condition. She will recover.

FOUR MEMBERS TAKE PLACES ON COOPER PRISON COMMITTEE

Grove Patterson Is Last Named By Governor

COLUMBUS, O., April 29.—One more member remains to be selected before Governor Myers V. Cooper completes his five-membered special investigating committee which will study conditions at the state's penal institutions and hospitals, as a result of the Ohio penitentiary holocaust April 21.

The four members of the committee who have been chosen are: Grove Patterson, vice president and editor of the Toledo Blade; City Welfare Director Dudley S. Blossom, Cleveland; A. E. Anderson, Cincinnati manufacturer, and Julius F. Stone, Columbus banker.

The committee is expected to submit a report to the governor embodying a program designed to relieve congestion among prisoners and inmates, eliminate fire hazards and improve other conditions.

Estimating that it will cost approximately $25,000,000 to carry out the program that the committee will recommend, the proposal that the Ohio constitution be amended has been presented to the governor. It is proposed that Ohioans, at a referendum election, adopt a constitutional amendment permitting the state to issue bonds for the purpose of financing this rehabilitation program.

LOWER MARKET IS NOTED IN OPENING

NEW YORK, April 29.—Monday's closing reaction was carried into the opening of the stock market today, and first prices were generally lower. A few of the leaders held up well. U. S. Steel opened unchanged at 185; General Electric unchanged at 87; Westinghouse up 1-2 at 154 1-2; and American Can up a point at 146.

Industrial Alcohol was down 1-8 at 88 1-8; Atlantic Refining down 1-2 at 43 1-2; Vanadium down 1-2 at 130 1-4; Gold Dust down 1-2 at 45 1-8; Radio down a point at 63 and Warner Brothers down 5-8 at 69 1-8.

HOOVER'S PROHIBITION PROGRAM FACES DEFEAT DESPITE HIS MESSAGE

Division Among Dries Menaces Success Of Proposal

WASHINGTON, April 29.—President Hoover's sweeping prohibition reorganization program faces defeat, in part at least, despite his special message to congress demanding action, it was indicated today.

The program is threatened by division among dries over the so-called "juryless trial" plan and with leaders favoring adjournment about June 1, some of the measures may be smothered in a legislative jam.

Feeling the sting of Mr. Hoover's message, some congressional dry leaders were planning to speed final decision.

A show down on the "juryless trial" bills under which federal court commissioners would hear minor dry law cases, will be demanded in the house judiciary committee tomorrow, Representative Christopher (R) of South Dakota, chairman of a sub-committee having the bills in charge, announced.

Favorable report of the measure for a unified border patrol is planned this week by Representative Hoch (R) of Kansas, chairman of an interstate commerce sub-committee.

Plans were laid in the senate to seek early passage of the prison expansion program.

Five months after Mr. Hoover opened congress with a plea for legislation to better law enforcement, the situation is:

1. Bill transferring prohibition bureau from treasury to justice department has passed house, was favorably reported by a senate sub-committee and held up by full judiciary committee awaiting investigation of effect of the bill on the civil service status of employees.
2. Prison expansion and reform program had passed house, reported out by senate committee, and is awaiting action on senate floor, with no opposition expected.
3. "Juryless trial" bills shelved by common consent in house judiciary committee, overwhelmingly with committee scheduled to meet tomorrow to act on substitute plan creating seventeen new federal judgeships.
4. Bill for militarized border patrol under coast guard, submitted by administration within last two weeks, with hearings held and sub-committee planning to report in house within week.
5. Draconic District of Columbia dry law held up by wet and dry fight in senate committee.

Speaker Longworth indicated that house leaders will apply no pressure to committees for action. He referred the president's message to five committees.

The house judiciary committee had planned to take up bills for new judgeships tomorrow, said Rep. Christopher. "In view of the president's message I think I shall demand a vote on the court commissioner bills recommended by the Wickersham commission."

Representative Hoch denied his sub-committee had delayed the presidential border patrol program. "We called hearings as quickly as possible after treasury officials were ready," he said. "I hope to have the sub-committee report to the full committee this week. I think the sub-committee and the full committee are in sympathy with the bill."

Senate leaders defend their lack of action, saying the bills were to come through the house while the senate was disposing of the tariff.

TRAIN KILLS AUTOIST
ROCKVILLE, Md., April 29.—Ralph R. Moffatt, 22, was instantly killed today when his automobile was struck by a west bound Baltimore and Ohio train on a grade crossing here. Moffatt was returning to Washington after a visit to the home of Miss Bertha Watkins, of Brookmont, Md.

PASTOR IS GUILTY

"The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away," the Rev. James A. Wilson, 59-year-old Mendota, Ill., pastor, murmurs as he awaits sentence following his conviction of shooting the church sexton, Amos Elliott, and Mrs. Elliott, because they refused to give him a letter he had written to a parishoner. He faces a maximum term of fourteen years in jail.

BUSINESS MENAGED BY MANY CONDITIONS BUTTERWORTH SAYS

Primary Object Is Profits Chamber Of Commerce Told

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Business has been face to face with realities which could not be brushed aside with a gesture, and it is still confronted with conditions which challenge its resources of intelligent leadership, President William Butterworth declared today in opening the eighteenth annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The industrial giants of the nation listened intently while Butterworth outlined "What's Ahead for Business."

"There has been an overhauling and a testing not only of the agencies of business but of its objectives and its methods," he said. "Business has turned a critical eye upon itself. Out of these frank self-appraisals, a fundamental fact emerges in its proper perspective, and that fundamental fact is that the primary object of business is not social uplift nor the fostering of the arts and sciences, but its, now, as it has always been in reality—profits."

"We are now engaging, as never before, in enterprises not only tremendous in themselves, but upon which hundreds of thousands, even millions of our people are dependent. Thus we are all, in a very real sense, partners in this great enterprise which we call American business. And so it is that enlightened self-interest very distinctly tends to a sane social point of view."

ECLIPSE PHOTOS ARE SUCCESSFUL

NEW YORK, April 29.—Observations and photographs obtained during yesterday's eclipse of the sun were fairly successful, scientists reported today. The complete eclipse was visible in a narrow path in California, Montana and Nevada. In western Canada clouds obscured good views.

Aerial photographs obtained in the far west were expected to prove of exceptional interest, scientists said.

ECLIPSE RECORDED BY ASTRONOMERS BY PHOTOS ON MONDAY

Stills And Moving Pictures Capture Phenomenon

HONEY LAKE, Cal., April 29.—The split seconds eclipse of the sun was safely recorded today on scores of photographic films and plates and on many hundreds of feet of talking picture film.

In making that record, astronomers from Mt. Wilson, the U. S. naval observatory and from Pomona College had literally outwitted the vagrant clouds of the worst spring storms this mountain valley has ever experienced, according to old timers.

The victory of science and aviation was practically complete, according to Dr. Seth Nicholson, chief of the eclipse party from Pasadena. The only record that is of no scientific value, he estimated, was a series of pictures to give measurements of the brightness of the sky as the eclipse developed.

The best picture was believed taken by Dr. Harold Babcock with his queer looking equatorial spectrophotometer. This picture will show the constitution of the sun's atmosphere.

Residents and visitors were discussing the many weird uncanny effects that the eclipse cast over them.

The light diminished over the sage brush very gradually at first, then as the moon slid more nearly over the sun's face, the light dropped with startling speed until a ghostly grayish luminosity, tinted with vague purple fires that were millions of miles away, enveloped the landscape.

A sudden chill struck and dew formed, but that was only for an instant.

Spectators described a shivery psychological effect the eclipse had upon them. It was as though a terrifying catastrophe were about to smash the world. This is believed by scientists to be the impending doom, striking into the earth's atmosphere from the moon, 250,000 miles away.

"I wanted to run away," said one woman, "I felt I was not safe where I was."

It will be several days before the pictorial record of the eclipse, made by Mt. Wilson astronomers, is complete, they announced. But some of the superlativized pictures were hurried to Reno, Nev., where Dr. Babcock and Professor Theodore Dunham, Jr., were developing the negatives in a laboratory furnished by the Nevada University. These sensitive pictures must be developed soon after they are made, Babcock explained, or they will spoil.

A strange phenomenon which Dr. Sinclair Smith of Mt. Wilson said was unexplained, was reported by the three occupants of the army observation airplane, piloted over the eclipse camp by Captain A. W. Stevens.

This phenomenon was a pair of half-midway dense gray shadows, that crossed at least fifty miles of cloud tops beneath the airplane. The direction of the shadows was carefully noted by Captain Stevens, his aide, Lieutenant J. B. Corkille and by a radio operator on the plane.

While the shadow of the moon was a deep purple on the cloud tops, the strange shadows that crossed the scene were of a much lighter hue, and very vividly marked, Stevens reported.

"Now that we have in the air, plane a new observation platform from which to observe eclipses, it is not unlikely that we have come unexpectedly upon an entirely new phenomenon," Smith said.

"We will study the report of Captain Stevens, and at future eclipses, will make further and more exact observations to find the cause of these strange shadows."

SHADOW PHENOMENON SEEN

Captain Stevens And Party See Unusual Shadow While Viewing Eclipse

The following graphic description of the solar eclipse was written for International News Service by an officer of the United States air corps who made his observations while flying over Honey Lake at a height of 15,000 feet.

By CAPT. A. W. STEVENS
(Written for I. N. S.)

HONEY LAKE, Cal., April 29.—While circling around over Honey Lake at an altitude of 15,000 feet, watching the total sun eclipse, we observed a black shadow approaching us slowly on the upper surface of the clouds, 8,000 feet below us. This shadow was first seen fifty miles from us.

The great band of black shadows was very well defined with the edges of deep grey, very sharp. It approached us slowly, preceding totality.

This was not the shadow of the plane because the plane was circling all the time and the shadow was perfectly straight.

The shadow was not that of the moon for we saw the moon shadow also approaching from a direction about 20 degrees south of east. The eclipse shadow approached from about 42 degrees west of south.

The eclipse shadow was oval in shape, due to the slant with which this shadow struck the cloud surface. The moon shadow was a deep purple in color and about 3,000 feet across. About twenty seconds after totality a second black band appeared about 90 degrees south of east with the same general description as the first. The edges were sharp except where the clouds were uneven. We could see the shadow occasionally drop down through several layers of clouds.

SOLDIERS SUBDUE PEN MUTINY WITH RIFLE FIRE; TWO WOUNDED

NOTED FLYERS DIE

Aviation has claimed the lives of two more nationally known flyers, Herbert Paby, noted aviator, too, whose wife is one of the ranking women pilots of the country, died at Grayling, Mich., from injuries received in a crash near Roscommon, Mich. Jim Kelly, below, who with "Reg" Robbins set a new world's refueling endurance record at Fort Worth, Tex., last May, was killed with two companions in a crash during a storm near Alford, Tex.

JEWELRY FOUND IN SEWER IS BELIEVED CLEW TO SOLUTION

Police Seek Trio In Investigation Of Baker Murder

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Jewelry which was believed stolen and was later found among Miss Mary Baker's effects which were recovered from a sewer a week after her body was found, may solve the mystery of her murder more than two weeks ago in near-by Virginia.

Police are searching for one of a trio who recovered the girl's missing coat, hat and a man's glove together with some jewelry which did not belong to Miss Baker from a sewer near the agricultural department's experimental farm.

Martin Funnham told police the jewelry was some stolen from his room April 20, nine days after the murder, and the theory is that whoever entered the Funnham home may have killed Miss Baker.

Police are continuing their search for the man who registered at an Alexandria, Va., hotel, and left the night of the murder without taking his suitcase.

Troops Take Charge Of Prison After Prisoners Attempt To Break; First Discipline Enforced By Militia

COLUMBUS, O., April 29.—Rifle fire today put an abrupt ending to a general jail break by mutinous convicts at Ohio State Penitentiary. Two hundred shots were fired.

Prison guards and militia men poured most of their fire over the heads of the convicts to frighten them.

Two convicts were wounded—one so seriously he may die. The wounded are George Tonoff, who was shot in the right lung and is in a critical condition and Jewell Joffa, who was shot in the right leg.

Several prison guards sustained minor injuries. Guard Willis Floyd was cut by flying glass when a prisoner threw the leg of a stool against a window.

Convicts screamed and many of them began to cry when the firing started. Half an hour after the outbreak the prison was under control—at least temporarily.

Ohio National Guardsmen for the first time generally occupied the prison yard. Machine guns were set up and their muzzles trained from all angles upon "White City," which is the section occupied by the "hard boiled" element of the 3,900 prisoners in the over crowded prison.

Under the muzzles of the guns Colonel Robert Haubrich, veteran of many battles in France, walked into the tumultuous cell block and addressed the prisoners.

When he emerged, the hard bitten Colonel made this statement: "We are going to run this prison from now on. We are going to take these babies to the mess hall to eat and then bring them back and put them in cells." They haven't been in cells because they had broken the night following the fire of the night of April 21 when 320 lives were lost. They had been roaming all over the place, defying the warden. Refusal to eat was part of their "passive campaign."

Col. Haubrich's word proved prophetic. Shortly before noon the prisoners, sullen and beaten, were marched to eat. They had been demanding that food be brought to them. Now there was no defiance left in the convicts. They walked between rows of fixed bayonets in the hands of Ohio National Guardsmen.

Most of them seemed to be glad their reign of the prison was over. The rioting started at 10:15 when concerted rushes were made on the main guard room leading to the street. The militiamen and prison guards promptly opened fire. After about 200 shots were fired Col. Haubrich ordered that firing cease. He then ordered that machine guns be moved into the prison yards and trained on the rebellious convicts after which he went into the cell block and addressed the mutiniers. The rioting broke out at 10:15 a. m.

The firing started when a number of prisoners tried to break into the outer guard room from the prison yard and escape by way of the front entrance alongside the warden's office.

Late last night there was quite a scare. It was reported that convicts were making their way through the utilities tunnel that criss crosses beneath the various prison buildings and were preparing to make a dash for liberty.

Colonel Haubrich immediately tightened up military regulations. For half an hour even newspaper men were barred.

LAWYERS OPPOSING STEEL MERGER PLAN PREPARING SUITS

Take Depositions Of Officials In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 29.—The battle front of Ohio's spectacular steel war over the merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation, shifted to Youngstown today where attorneys for forces opposing the consolidation planned to take depositions from several officials, directors and stockholders of the Youngstown concern.

The taking of depositions are in preparation for the hearing of suits pending here to halt the merger. Approval of the consolidation was voted by Sheet and Tube stockholders at a special meeting last April 10. The anti-merger forces hope, through the suits, to have the merger approval set aside and the Youngstown concern enjoined from selling its assets to Bethlehem.

It is expected that two or three days will be spent here by attorneys for the anti-merger forces in questioning principals of the Sheet and Tube Company.

Deposition taken in Cleveland yesterday indicated that Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier and leader of the anti-merger forces, is now attacking the legality of some 60,000 shares of stock voted in favor of the merger by Pickands, Mather and Company.

The testimony yesterday was given by Samuel Boal and Elmer Hoyt II, partner in Pickands, Mather and Company.

Boal and Hoyt declared under questioning that Pickands, Mather spent $9,000,000 to purchase the 60,000 some shares of Sheet and Tube stock to assure its being voted in favor of the merger.

Anti-merger attorneys question the right of Pickands, Mather to vote the 60,000 shares, on the ground that Pickands, Mather holds large contracts with Sheet and Tube. Should these 60,000 shares of stock be successfully contested by the anti-merger forces, it is believed the merger will fall through lack of the two-thirds majority required under the Ohio laws.

NEARLY RUINED HIM

THE following little testimonial to the value of advertising was contained in this week's "Elevator," the official weekly bulletin of the Xenia Rotary Club:

Customer: "Why don't you advertise?"

Storekeeper: "No, sir! I tried it once and it pretty near ruined me."

Customer: "Why how's that?"

Storekeeper: "People came in here and bought darned near everything I had."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

ALL IS GOD'S—What! know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's.

ROBERT BRIDGES

The fact that Robert Bridges, who died in London recently, was not a great poet laureate did not distinguish him from many other incumbents of the laureateship in Great Britain. The post has seldom gone to men whose claim to poetic primacy in their day has been confirmed by time. Charles I created the office in 1617 for Ben Jonson. Only four considerable poets have held it since—Dryden, Southey, Wordsworth and Tennyson—and Lord Byron didn't think so much of Bob Southey, as either poet or poet laureate. There may have been a little jealousy there. The reason Byron did not inherit the Parnassian mantle was the same that kept Swinburne from succeeding Tennyson. They were obviously not "court poets."

Alfred Austin, who tardily succeeded Tennyson, was not a popular choice; and the pre-laureate work of Dr. Bridges was contrasted to its disadvantage, with that of Hardy and Kipling. There is no doubt that he did the best he could in a position for which he was not eminently fitted. Originally the laureateship carried with it a salary and a taste or butt of wine. The parliamentary suggestion that a cask of wine be sent to Dr. Bridges in the hope that it might inspire him to commemorate royal birthdays and other national events in verse sounds like Abraham Lincoln's alleged wish that he might have a barrel of the liquor General Grant was accused of imbibing too freely to send to each of his other generals. Apparently the wag who made it was under the impression that the obligation to produce "effusions of order" was still in force. As a matter of fact it died with Pye. Wordsworth, when he accepted the laureateship, stipulated that he should be free to write when and what he liked. This was a happy escape for Great Britain, as well as for its future poets laureate. When the affluence is not there it is no kindness to literature to fill the void with words.

NOW IN LINE

The announcement that Eugene Roy has been chosen temporary president of Haiti by the council of state, indicates that President Borno has finally managed to whip the members of the council into line and force them to keep their word to the American commission which recently visited the country and made arrangements for a return to some semblance of constitutional government. According to the program, Borno was to decline to stand for re-election, which he did; the council of state was to choose Roy ad interim executive pending a general supervised election to take place in the fall, but after the Americans left the island, it began to show an inclination to select another candidate and Borno, who is a person of intelligence and ability, immediately set out to check the activities of the members, threatening to dissolve the council unless they behaved.

Borno's success paves the way for the next event on the program, the selection of a permanent executive, to be chosen under the conditions of the recent election in Nicaragua.

THE SWAY OF FASHION

Even the Esquimaux girls of Northern Canada are said to be falling under the sway of Paris fashions. The ways of civilized societies are penetrating the most remote corners. We may not be able to persuade those folks to follow our political and religious ideas, but the fascinations of style will cast a spell over the barbaric eye.

Music is said to have charms to soothe the savage breast, but the latest Paris styles might have a still more calming effect.

Some people may think the Esquimaux will waste their scanty earnings if they spend them on style. But it may work as it often does with our people, that as wants increase, willingness to work also gains. If the Esquimaux flappers demand permanent waves and evening gowns, Father Esquimaux must stop snoozing in his snow igloo, and get out and catch fish eight hours a day.

We wonder where the hitch-hiker gets his crust. It is harder than that on a depot restaurant roll.

REMOVING CROPS SURPLUSES FROM COMPETITIVE MARKET ADVOCATED

By THEODORE CHRISTIANSON
Governor of Minnesota

(Theodore Christianson was born in Lac qui Parle county, Minn., Sept. 12, 1883. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. In 1903 he was admitted to the bar and began the practice of law at Dawson, Minn. From 1909 to 1925 he published the Dawson Sentinel. He was a member of the Minnesota house of representatives from 1915 to 1923. In 1925 he was elected governor of the state. He is a Republican.)

Those who asked congress in its revision of the tariff to leave industrial schedules as they are, except in a limited field, and boost agricultural schedules, only sought to restore that equipoise of industry and agriculture which is essential to the prosperity of both.

It is to be regretted that the politicians in congress have failed to make the best use of the opportunity to do constructive and statesmanlike work that they have had during the past year. Many a congressman is more anxious to please his constituents by promoting their immediate advantage than to serve them by advancing their ultimate welfare.

The only answer I have given as to how the economic balance can be restored is a fair adjustment of the tariff. We who live in the middle west, far from the avenues of ocean transportation, expect to find another answer in the development of inland waterways, designed not to lift the burden of excessive transportation costs but to effect eventually that distribution of industry that will balance the farm and factory in every section of the country.

By providing a channel for ocean-going vessels up the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes, we expect to make Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee and Duluth ocean ports. We expect to bring the sea into the heart of the continent.

We who live in that part of the country which produces its bread, butter, beef and pork, expect to find another answer in the efforts to correlate the efforts of 7,000,000 farmers to provide a profitable market for their products—a market reed from those seasonal gluts and price fluctuations which give the speculator an opportunity to levy unconscionable toll on the producer.

It will be necessary to make the tariff effective on surplus crops. This, in my opinion, can be done only by segregating surpluses and removing them as a competitive factor in the domestic market. I am not particular about the method used to effect this segregation.

What are some of the designated national parks of the United States?

They include: Hot Springs, Arkansas; Yellowstone, Wyoming; Sequoia, California; Yosemite, California; General Grant, California; Mount Rainier, Washington; Crater Lake, Oregon; Platt, Oklahoma; Wind Cave, South Dakota; Sully Hill, North Dakota; Mesa Verde, Colorado; Glacier, Montana; Rocky Mountain, Colorado; Hawaii, Hawaii; Lassen Volcanic, California; Mount McKinley, Alaska; Grand Canyon, Arizona; Acadia, Maine; Zion, Utah; Bryce Canyon, Utah; Grand Teton, Wyoming.

Agriculture's Income

What is the gross income of American agriculture in the United States?

Latest comprehensive figures available relate to the crop year 1927-1928. In that period the gross income of American agriculture from all products amounted to $12,253,000,000, compared with $12,127,000,000 in 1926-27, and $12,670,000,000 in 1925-27, according to the report of the department of agriculture.

Bananas

How was the banana introduced into the United States?

As late as the middle of the nineteenth century, travelers and naturalists wrote of the banana as a delicious fruit for the peoples of the tropics, but its possibilities as a staple food for the inhabitants of the temperate zone were not realized. It is supposed that the first bananas brought to the United States came from Cuba to New York early in the nineteenth century. By 1850 clipper ships were bringing occasional small cargoes, and soon after the Civil war Carl B. Franc, who had been a ship's steward, started the first regular importations. The fruit was from Aspinwall, within the present Panama Canal Zone, according to the department of commerce.

Argentine Republic

Could you give me the area, population, and principal exports of Argentina?

The area is 1,153,418 square miles; population, 10,312,000; and the principal exports, meat and dairy products, wheat, corn, linseed, quebracho, tannin, hides and wool.

EXPENSE ACCOUNTS TO BE WATCHED

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, is the type of public man whose idea of an ample amount of money to be spent by a candidate on a statewide campaign is the cost of touring his commonwealth in a tin Lize—with no additional charge for meals, because he has to eat anyway, whether running for office or not.

And Nye is chairman of the committee recently appointed to keep a sharp eye on the contenders' expense accounts in this year's senate fights.

Now there are states where a couple of millions is considered reasonable for a seat in the upper house of congress. The aspirant who tries to economize is extremely unlikely to win. With Nye on the job, is it any wonder that politicians from such areas look mighty worried just now?

THE North Dakotan is a terrible investor, too.

Until Nye came to Washington about five years ago, Senator Tom J. Walsh, of Montana, held the championship belt as the most ferocious "prober" on Capitol hill.

Walsh, however, knows certain restraints. He is a lawyer—an extremely able one and, within legal limits, a merciless cross-examiner; nevertheless, he pans his victims according to the forensic profession's well-recognized rules.

Nye is a newspaper man. He does not care a hoot for rules.

AS much as Senator Walsh wants the truth, when on the quiz, he would rather do without it than extract it from a witness in any thing but the orthodox, lawyer-like way. Let a witness outmaneuver him! Walsh gives him an admiring glance and lets him go.

Senator Nye's more practical view is that it is immaterial how he extracts the facts from an individual who he believes possesses them—provided he succeeds in extracting them and they evidently are the real thing. If the pack and thimble game is necessary, the North Dakotan never hesitates to employ them. As a journalist, he seeks information for itself alone and never stops to inquire what some court of appeals will say later, concerning the means by which he acquired it.

As fellow members of the senate public lands committee, Nye and Walsh shared in the oil inquiry a few years ago—and fought all the time. Nye's rough-and-ready method sometimes he realizes it, but Walsh's finesse made Nye so fretful he could hardly sit still.

ANYWAY, Senator Nye is a hard hitter, and any hard hitter has got to run risks with his percentage, but when he does sock one right on the nose, he knocks her clear off the lot.

This makes him the infant terror of such committees as this thing on campaign expenditures.

Campaign managers are not half so anxious concerning his associate committeemen, Senators Dill, Gold-borough, Patterson and Wagner, all put together, as they are over Gerald P. Nye all alone.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HAS JUBILEE MEETING FRIDAY

Mrs. William Bootes and Mrs. Frank Bickett were delightful hostesses to members of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of Trinity M. E. church at the jubilee meeting, Friday afternoon.

The meeting was opened with the singing of the missionary hymn followed by sentence prayers. Mrs. Willard Bennington sang a group of numbers. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Alice Ruthrauff.

Mrs. Bickett gave an interesting report of the jubilee meeting held in Dayton last week. The meeting was closed by the singing of "Fifty Golden Years."

A social hour was enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

MARRIAGE TAKES PLACE FRIDAY

Miss Lola Sizemore, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Sizemore, Hamilton and Mr. Geo. Harold Williams, son of Mrs. Berna Williams, of Dayton, were quietly united in marriage at the Methodist Episcopal Church at Hamilton, Friday, April 25, at 10:30 o'clock.

A wedding dinner was served to the bridal party at the Hotel Adams in Cincinnati, following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams, who are well known in Xenia, left Saturday for a honeymoon journey, their destination being kept secret.

They will be at home to their friends on Glendale Ave., Dayton.

ENTERTAINS BRIDGE CLUB AT LUNCHEON MONDAY

Miss Helen Kyne was a delightful hostess when she entertained members of her bridge club with a two-course luncheon at her home near Spring Valley, Monday afternoon.

Following the luncheon two tables of bridge were in play during the afternoon. Mrs. Anna Krug and Mrs. Bernice Hartinger were awarded high score prizes.

Miss Kyne's home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, with lilies of the valley.

GIVEN SURPRISE ON BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

A group of friends gathered at the home of Miss Elizabeth Prush, Jamestown, Monday evening and delightfully surprised her, the occasion being her birthday.

Games and contests were in play during the evening, after which a light refreshment course was served.

Those present were: Misses Gerdeen Smith, Sarah and Louise Skyles, Alberta Snyder, Gladys Glenn, Maude Bolen and Mrs. Thomas Gordon and the honor guest.

CELEBRATES EIGHTY-SIXTH BIRTHDAY TUESDAY

Took It At Middle Age

"I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at Change of Life. Now I still take it every spring and fall and it keeps me in good health. I am able to take care of an eight-room house and garden, at the age of 71 years. I will praise the Vegetable Compound wherever I go for it is a wonderful medicine for women. They should give it a good trial by taking about five bottles."—Mrs. Clara Riley, 2100 Paxton and 4th Avenue, Sioux City, Iowa.

Mrs. Glen Dennis, Wilmington, is spending a few days this week in Jamestown, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ferguson.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clark and son, moved from their property in Jamestown to Xenia, Tuesday.

COURT REFUSES TO CHANGE ORDER FOR CHILD'S CUSTODY

Declaring that the marital difficulties of Doris Little Lucas and Davis Little, both former residents of Jamestown, have been before his court constantly during the last four years and that he has been extremely patient with the mother despite her evasions of former court orders, Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy announced following a hearing Monday that he would not entertain a motion of Mrs. Lucas to re-modify a court order and change the custody of her six-year-old daughter, Jacqueline, to her from the father.

Judge Gowdy pointed out that when he originally granted the mother a divorce a few years ago, he awarded her custody of the child with the understanding that the father reserved the right to have the girl visit him at his home in Dayton part of the time each month.

This order was complied with only once during the last three years, Judge Gowdy declared. The court explained that for this reason the child's custody was changed to the father last year. The judge further pointed out that the mother continued to ignore the court and refused to relinquish the child, dodging from one county to another until last week when authorities located the mother and girl in Dayton and brought both to Xenia on writ of habeas corpus.

Since last Friday the child has been in possession of the father and the hearing Monday at which Mrs. Lucas and her former husband were present, was to argue a motion of counsel for the mother to change the child's custody to her.

Judge Gowdy asserted that temporarily the child may continue to stay with the father, at least for a length of time commensurate with the period in which he was deprived of possession of his daughter by the mother's refusal to permit Jacqueline to visit him. Later, however, the court indicated that if he is given positive assurance the child will be permitted to visit the father at reasonable times, the custody may be transferred again to Mrs. Lucas, who has re-married since her divorce and is living with her second husband and her parents at Jamestown. Davis Little has also married again.

Mrs. Clarence Glass, W. Main St., who spent the last week with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cowgill, Delaware, has returned home.

Trinity M. E. Church Choir will meet at the church Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock for rehearsal. All members are urged to be present.

Xenia Grange No. 1788 will hold its regular meeting Friday evening at the K. of P. Hall. Jamestown Grange will furnish the program. Xenia Grange members are asked to bring meat sandwiches and one crust pie.

MOSES EVANS DIES RESULT OF INJURY

Moses Edmond Evans, 63, died at a local hospital Monday afternoon at 4:50 o'clock after a brief illness. He was removed to the hospital Sunday morning following an accident Saturday afternoon when an iron bar with which he was working slipped, striking him in the stomach. Internal injuries resulted which caused his death.

He was born in Spring Valley Twp., December 18, 1866 the son of the late Moses and Sarah Evans and spent most of his life in that vicinity. He had been residing on the Centerville Pike, near Spring Valley. He was a member of the M. P. Church of Spring Valley and the Spring Valley Grange. His wife died in 1908 and a daughter, Hazel, died in 1923.

He is survived by one son, Don, at home. Funeral services will be held at the residence Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be made in Spring Valley.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY WHEN ARRAIGNED IN LIQUOR CASE HERE

Paul George Myers, 21, Dayton, alleged rum runner, entered a not guilty plea to a charge of transporting liquor when arraigned before Probate Judge S. C. Wright Monday afternoon. His bond was fixed at $500 and he was remanded to the County Jail in default of bail to await a hearing assigned for 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Myers was arrested by police and county officers on the Columbus Pike near Cedarville Saturday night. The youth claimed he was "hitch hiking" to Dayton and that the real driver of the truck in which he was riding escaped.

The truck contained a cargo of 800 gallons of liquor in five-gallon tins but Myers disclaimed knowledge of the liquor, maintaining he was given a "lift" by the real driver.

All but five gallons of the liquor was poured into the gutter in front of the County Jail on E. Market St., Tuesday morning and was allowed to run down into the sewer. The remaining five gallons are being held as evidence in the case.

Zimmerman News

The Faithful Workers Sunday School classes met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smart Thursday evening. About forty-two members and friends were present. In the absence of the president and vice-president at the meeting, Mrs. A. D. Wenrick was elected chairman and presided at the business session.

Interesting contests were introduced by Mrs. Clistie Sipe.

Mr. H. C. Haverstick gave a short account of the superintendent's conference held at the New Carlisle Church Tuesday evening. Reports on discussion and questions asked at Round Table period were given by Mrs. Nettie Moler, Mrs. F. L. Barron and Mrs. Lewis Bailey.

Refreshments of sandwiches, pickles and coffee were served.

Attending were, Mrs. Lewis Bailey, Miss Lizzie Haverstick, H. C. Haverstick, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Coy, Miss Martha Coy, Mrs. W. A. Dick, Mrs. Barran, Miss Julia Lantz, Mrs. Cornelius Zimmerman, Mrs. Nettie Moler, Mrs. H. M. Stewart, Thelma and Nadine Stewart, Mrs. Lewis Turner, Miss Ruth Rock, Mrs. Ray Rosell, Rev. and Mrs. Eldemiller, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Devoe, Vera and Robert Devoe, Mrs. George Stine, Mrs. Darius Truhee, Mrs. Alfred Smart, Mrs. Clistie Sipe, Miss Ella Sipe, Mrs. Andy O'Hara, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Coy, Lawrence and Alice Coy, Geraldine Lafong, Mr. and Mrs. Smart, Bertha Darius and Elden Smart, Robert, Eva and Mildred Smart.

Doris Dalhammer has been seriously ill with a malady resembling ptomaine poisoning, supposed to have been caused by eating a frankfurter. She is improving at this writing.

A son arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rosell (Mary Smart) April 6. He has been named Joseph. Mr. and Mrs. Rosell also have two other sons Thomas and Eugene.

A delegation of forty-two from the church here, attended evangelistic services at the West Dayton Church Monday evening April 7.

The chorus directed by Friend Couser, sang one song and Misses Ruth and Martha Stewart sang a beautiful duet "Whispering Hope."

Mrs. Joe Coy was accompanist. Delegations were present from the Carmonte U. B. Church and New Lebanon Brethren Church with their pastors.

Mr. Engle of the Carmonte group gave two beautiful instrumental solos with Mrs. Engle, as accompanist on the piano.

Present in the Zimmerman church group were: Rev. and Mrs. Eldemiller, H. C. Haverstick, Misses Lizzie and Mary Haverstick, Dot Koogler, George Haverstick, Mrs. Barron, Miss Lantz, Mrs. Stewart, Thelma and Nadine Stewart; Mrs. Robert Bear, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Darling and Josephine; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart, Ruth and Martha Stewart; Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Coy, Raymen Coy, Lawrence Snyder, Ruth and Louise Snyder, Leona and Louise Koogler, Mrs. L. Bailey, Mrs. C. Zimmerman, Mrs. Moler, Russell Zimmerman, Mrs. Joe Coy, Ted Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Durnbaugh, Mrs. Frank Durnbaugh, Cash Moore, Friend Couser, Mr. J. A. R. Couser, Norman Coy, Albert Hanes, Geneva Hawker.

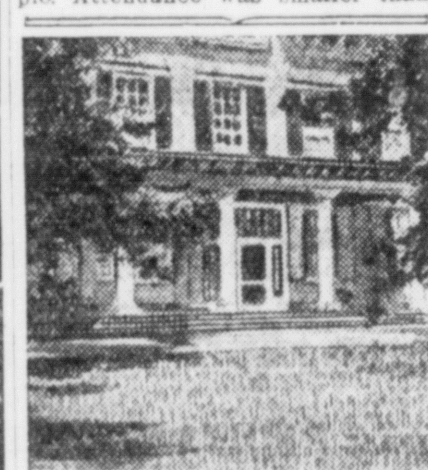

Rev. Coffman, pastor of the West Dayton Brethren Church (Progressive) spoke of the change from former ways and said, "We are becoming more Christian," in that such a service with members of the United Brethren, Brethren and Church of the Brethren (Conservative) taking part, would have been impossible a few years ago, also praising the Lord with musical instruments would not have been tolerated.

Zimmerman church and community were also well represented at evangelistic services at the Alpha M. P. Church several times. On Sunday evening, I. M. Coy and wife, Rev. Eldemiller, Friend Couser, Mrs. Sam Moore, Cassius Moore, Mrs. Andy Flatter, Mrs. John Hanes, Mrs. L. Bailey, Ted Miller, Ellsworth Stewart, Lawrence Snyder, Ruth and Louise Snyder, H. Haverstick, Miss Lizzie and Mary Haverstick, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smart and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Coy and children.

On Tuesday evening at Alpha, a large and appreciative audience enjoyed the splendid program of spirituals sung by five colored singers from Dayton, of radio popularity. Their singing was beautiful and impressive. Little Miss Coy sang a solo and played her own accompaniment.

Those attending from Zimmerman Church or community were: Mrs. R. Bear, Mrs. H. Stewart, Thelma and Nadine Stewart, Mrs. L. Bailey, Mrs. Barron, Miss Lantz, Mr. and Mrs. Flatter, Mr. and Mrs. John Hanes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zellars and children, Vera Bear, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Turner and family.

Several from this neighborhood attended the Easter Sunrise service at Mt. Zion for the young people. Attendance was smaller than last year's since only young people were present.

The economy of building a square type of house has often been commented upon. Such a house, designed by R. L. Stevenson, Boston architect, is shown here. It is of Dutch colonial type, with characteristic gambrel roof. The kitchen is convenient to dining room and front and back halls, but cut off from the front hall by a passageway, in which there is a coat closet and lavatory. The living room features a fireplace. The master's bedroom on the second floor has two large closets. The cubage is estimated at 21,526 feet, costing in the neighborhood of $10,763 to build.

Our chorus of singers contributed a beautiful and impressively rendered selection, from "The Messiah," at the regular Sunday morning service here Easter and Ruth and Martha Stewart sang a solo.

The primary grades under the direction of their teacher, Miss Thelma Turner, gave a very interesting Easter program at the school house Friday afternoon. After the exercises the pupils and small children visitors received an Easter treat from the teacher. Also the advanced grades, who were present with their teacher Miss Martha Barron.

Mothers of pupils in attendance were: Mrs. Forest Shoup, Mrs. Charles Duncan, Mrs. Morrell Huffman, Mrs. L. Koogler, Mrs. Crawford Coy, Mrs. Lewis Hanes, Mrs. Andrew Flatter, Mrs. Fred Smart, Others present were: Mrs. Lewis Turner, Mrs. Lewis Bailey, Mrs. H. Stewart, Mrs. Clara Miller, Mrs. Boatman and baby, Mrs. McKinley Durnbaugh, Miss Julia Lantz.

Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Trehan are home after spending two months in Florida, where they visited various points of interest and had an apartment at Ft. Lauderdale. They made the trip by motor.

Misses Lizzie Haverstick and Ella Sipe were recent Sunday dinner guests at the home of the former's cousin, I. M. Coy and family.

Forest Moler, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Moler (Hazel Moler) has been quite ill with pneumonia since Easter Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bear and children were guests of Mrs. Bear's parents and family in Dayton Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Emma Landis, teacher of the Week-Day School of Religion at the Benham School, was in charge of a very excellent program at the K. of P. Hall at Alpha, Sunday evening, April 13, showing some of the things taught in the week-day classes, though the program material had been planned and adapted to adult hearers.

Pictures shown were beautiful and instructive and were ably explained by Miss Landis in story and poem. Also Miss Snyder who is a teacher, gave several selections, carrying out the theme of the entertainment. A group of girls from Brookville assisted with songs and boys with dramatizations.

Miss Lena Behrend, former teacher of the Alpha Zimmerman and Benham classes, operated the picture machine.

Miss Helen R. Stearns, supervisor of Religious Education of Dayton and outlying districts under the Dayton system gave a splendid talk on the subject of Religious Education in the week-day schools. She said there are at present 10,600 pupils enrolled in the religious education classes, with seventeen teachers, fifteen of them full-time teachers; that the community standard is the standard of our children, regardless of the ideals and standards of individual homes. So we must raise the standard of conduct of community if we would have a higher standard for our youth. One-tenth of the children in school have no religious instruction whatever. Experience has proved the necessity for religion. She quoted Supt. Stetson of the Dayton public schools as saying that the test of the teaching in the week-day classes, has proved its worth. That though the system is not perfect, it is the best way we know of instructing the youth in religion and higher standards of conduct and ideals and of the brotherhood of all men.

Owing to the large numbers of poorer children in the Zimmerman and Alpha schools and the expenses being computed per capita, these two schools were unable to take the work the past term.

Zimmerman district and church were represented at the above program by the following: Rev. Eldemiller, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Coy, Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Durnbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Blake, Thomas and Clayton Blake, Mrs. Clara Miller and children, Mrs. Marion Bailey, H. C. Haverstick, Misses Lizzie and Mary Haverstick, Mrs. Henry Stewart, Thelma and Nadine Stewart, also Mr. and Mrs. Joe Coy, Lawrence and Alice Coy.

The patrons of Benham School were to take the above work again next term with but two dissenting votes.

Before going to Alpha a very good program was given by the Junior League at our church here, in charge of the leader, Mrs. J. Coy, consisting of readings, dialogues, songs, etc., by the children. Also an instrumental duet by Lawrence Coy and his uncle Marion Miller of Byron.

Miss Mary Haverstick spent Sunday with Miss Dorothy Merriman.

BETTER HOMES WEEK IS BEING OBSERVED DURING THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—National Better Homes Week, April 27 to May 2 is being observed in every state in the Union and by approximately seven thousand communities, according to Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, who succeeded Herbert Hoover as President of Better Homes in America.

"The American home is the primary source of the sound, practical idealism which has characterized our National life," Dr. Wilbur continues. "The conservation and development of good health and a wholesome outlook upon life and of rugged, untiring virtues and progressive, constructive citizenship are largely dependent upon the conditions which surround childhood in the home and neighborhood and upon the attitudes and ideals displayed in the daily routine of home life. Through concentration of public attention during Better Homes Week upon the improvement of existing homes and residential neighborhoods and upon the cultivation of high standards of design, equipment, furnishing and landscaping, and high standards of family life and activities it is possible to maintain the best of our American traditions and to help the home to keep in step with the progress of the arts and sciences.

"The movement of Better Homes in America was inspired and developed under the personal leadership of President Hoover, who still serves as its honorary chairman. The contributions which the thousands of local committees are making to civic welfare through their contests for home improvement, their demonstrations of the better types of home design and furnishing, and their campaigns for neighborhood protection and development are the product of much thoughtful planning and disinterested and unselfish civic service on the part of community leaders, the professions and the educational groups throughout the country.

"The home should be the symbol of our national ideals. Its standards and qualities should reflect all that is best in our national life. There is no home in which it is not possible to make some improvements for convenience, comfort, beauty or wholesomeness. The local Better Homes committees have dedicated themselves to this significant task so that every American family may have opportunity to learn of the next steps which may be taken in the improvement of their own homes and to contribute through their own efforts to healthful, happy childhood, thoughtful parenthood and creative citizenship."

RADIO FEATURE IS NOT HEARD MONDAY

The radio feature "Amos 'n' Andy," scheduled to be heard over WLW, Cincinnati, Monday night, was not broadcast through this station which, as usual made no explanation of the change.

The popular feature has been publicized to be resumed over WLW beginning Monday in the official programs and in the publicity announcement from this station.

The feature was scheduled for 10:30 p. m. to be followed by Brooks and Ross, a new harmony team, at 10:45. Brooks and Ross were heard at 10:30 instead and no explanation of the failure of the "Amos 'n' Andy" broadcast was given.

SUBMERGED IT RUNS UNDER WATER

IN A SPECTACULAR nation-wide exhibition, General Electric is dramatically demonstrating that the "On Top" refrigerating unit cannot be harmed by dirt, air, moisture and rust. Amazed crowds gather day after day in front of General Electric display windows—witnessing an astonishing demonstration. Completely submerged in water, a General Electric Refrigerating Unit operates with quiet, smooth, unflinching efficiency.

Only a General Electric—born of years of exhaustive research, built for trouble-free service and sealed in steel—could withstand this gruelling test.

Here is the only unit hermetically sealed in steel—oiled once and for all at the factory. Efficiency is sealed in—trouble sealed out. The simple, flawless mechanism is protected forever from dirt, air, moisture, rust and heat by a permanent wall of steel.

An engineering triumph—built to run through the years without a thought.

General Electric Refrigerators are modern in principle, fast in freezing performance, greatest in food storage capacity and by far lowest in cost per year. They embody every desirable convenience from ready movability and quiet, unflinching operation, to a handy, accessible freezing control. Cabinets are all steel—white porcelain-lined.

Not one of hundreds of thousands of owners has ever spent a cent for service.

ARRAIGN ELICKERS
ON ROBBERY CHARGE
HERE AFTER RETURN

Arraigned in Municipal Court Monday on a charge of highway robbery, Roy Elicker, 21, Dayton, one of two brothers returned from Iowa City, Ia., by Sheriff Ohmer Tate and Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman, entered a plea of not guilty and his preliminary hearing is assigned for 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

Roy Elicker and his brother, Kenneth, 24, are alleged to have been implicated in a hi-jacking case on the Springfield Pike December 12, 1928, in which James Masterpolis, Springfield, was assaulted and robbed of $830 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $450.

Kenneth Elicker was indicted for highway robbery by the October, 1929, grand jury and since that time is said to have been in trouble with authorities at Richmond, Ind., and at Cleveland. He will be arraigned in Common Pleas Court on the old indictment Tuesday.

The Elicker brothers were arrested on suspicion at Iowa City, Ia., and confessed to police in that city they were wanted in Xenia on charges of highway robbery. The brothers waived extradition to Ohio and were returned to Xenia by Sheriff Ohmer Tate and Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman, who arrived with their prisoners Sunday night.

SENTENCE SEQUEL TO AUTO ACCIDENT

Convicted of operating an auto while intoxicated, Gus Brooks, 40, colored, 612 Germantown St., Dayton, was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to thirty days in the County Jail and had his driving rights suspended for six months by Municipal Judge E. Dawson Smith Monday afternoon.

Brooks was arrested by police as an outgrowth of an auto collision on E Market St. Sunday night. An affidavit filed by Green Femuels, colored, 223 Fair St., this city, charged that Brooks, driving a sedan, smashed into the rear of his touring car. The Dayton man pleaded not guilty when arraigned.

canted and publicly declared prohibition a mistake. His platform pledges him to vote for repeal if he should be elected.

Frelinghuysen's friends consider that he has beaten Morrow to the punch, but the effect of his declaration has been to heighten the interest in Morrow's forthcoming declaration.

Of New Jersey's wetness there is little doubt. Edward I. Edwards, a Democrat, defeated Frelinghuysen on a platform that had virtually but one plank—"to make New Jersey as wet as the Atlantic Ocean." Senator Walter E. Edge, Republican, until his appointment as ambassador to France, was the leader of the wet bloc in the senate. Seemingly, New Jersey has always elected a wet to the senate, irrespective of party.

In the forthcoming campaign, it is expected the Democratic nomination will go to Alexander Simpson, who is militantly wet. Hence, whoever wins the Republican nomination in Jersey will have to meet a wet opponent in November.

Since Frelinghuysen's declaration, the professional dries like the Anti-Saloon League have been somewhat panicky over the prospect of seeing all the candidates in New Jersey's senatorial contest awed by wet. They were pinning their hopes on Frelinghuysen for he had always been with them. Now he has recanted, and there remains only Morrow. The dry pressure upon him is going to be tremendous for the next few weeks.

IN ADDITION to the advertisements of the big department stores, of the grocery and hardware stores, of the millinery, clothing and shoe stores, there is another kind of advertising that is being read more and more by readers of this newspaper. That kind of advertising is the Classified Columns.

A man or woman wants a job. They read the "Help Wanted" columns and probably insert an advertisement of their own under "Positions Wanted." Employer and job seeker soon get together to the benefit of both. A man may want an automobile—possibly he cannot afford a new car, so he looks in the "Used Car" columns and finds just the car at the price he can afford to pay. Someone has lost a pocket-book, valuable papers or even a pet dog. The "Lost and Found" columns soon bring loser and finder together.

The Classified Columns are so arranged that any one can readily find what he seeks quickly — business news, machinery and tools, household goods, horses, dogs, cats, canaries, etc. They enable you to locate what you are looking for in short order. So in reading advertising do not overlook the classified columns—the individual advertisements do not take up much room, but like the meaty nut they may contain a big kernel in a small shell—just for you.

CARROLL - BINDER TEAM SCORES 8 TO 4 WIN OVER DOWNTOWNERS

Downey Pitches Aply To Subdue Champs As Mates
Collect Fifteen Hits; Woolary
Stars With Stick

HAMMERING out fifteen hits, including six doubles and a home run, the Carroll-Binder Co. softball team exhibited an unsuspected batting punch and easily defeated the Downtown Country Club nine, city champions in 1927 and 1929, by a score of 8 to 4 in the inaugural game of the 1930 Xenia "kitten ball" season Monday night at Cox Athletic Field.

Lloyd Downey, former Post Office pitcher, on the mound for the winners, held the city champions to seven scattered hits and two earned runs while his mates were hitting Frame safely in every inning and piling up a safe margin.

The contest was limited to seven innings because of darkness.

Carroll-Binder opened the scoring with one run in the get-away inning. Foley began it with a single and L. Cope doubled. Leachy hit a grounder and Foley was nipped at the plate. L. Cope overran third base on the play and was doubled up before he could get back safely. Neville, however, came through with a two-bagger, scoring Leachy.

A home run by Lunsford with two out and the bases empty evened the score in the last half of the inning, but Carroll-Binder went ahead to stay in the second, clustering four hits for three runs. Singles by Woolary and Downey accounted for the trio of tallies.

The D. T. C. Club got two of these in its half of the inning as a result of three errors, a sacrifice fly and a double by Clemons.

The ultimate winners added another tally in the third on a circuit blow by Dice, scored once more in the fifth on Woolary's single and a double by J. Cain and collected two more for good measure in the seventh as a result of two errors and singles by Woolary and Lewis.

The only run obtained by the Downtowners in the last five rounds came in the sixth on consecutive hits by LeSourd and Huston.

Every member of the winning team hit safely at least once. Woolary showing the way with three singles in four times at bat for the Downtowners, LeSourd collected two singles and Lunsford a home run and double.

PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM PRISON FARM

Xenia police have been notified to be on the look-out for two convicts who walked away from the London state prison farm Monday night.

A guard from the prison farm who came to Xenia Monday night furnished Police Chief O. H. Cornwell with fingerprints and complete classification of the escaped prisoners.

The convicts being sought are the Rev. Edwin R. Grigsby, 27, and Dewey Rippetoe, 24, both sentenced from Madison County two years ago on larceny charges for chicken stealing.

The minister, sentenced to serve from three and a half to seven years, is described as weighing 140 pounds, tall and of fair complexion. Rippetoe, a laborer, was sentenced to two and a half to seven years and is described as being of medium build and weighing 130 pounds.

DESTROY LIQUOR

Approximately 100 gallons of liquor, a supply which has been accumulating at the County Jail since March, 1928, will be destroyed by Sheriff Ohmer Tate in the presence of the usual witnesses. Tuesday afternoon under an order of Probate Judge S. C. Wright. The liquor supply represents contraband confiscated as evidence in a majority of seventy-one cases coming under the jurisdiction of Probate Court.

TEAM TO PRACTICE

Members of the Graham Paints softball team, which is scheduled to meet the Criterion nine in the opening league game for both teams Wednesday night, are urged to report at the Washington Park diamond at 6 o'clock Tuesday night for practice.

BOWERSVILLE WINS FROM WILMINGTON WITH HEAVY ATTACK

Free-Hitting Marks Battle Sunday; Score 14 To 8

Bowersville Independents converted fourteen hits into as many runs and defeated Wilmington by a margin of 14 to 8 in a free-hitting baseball game Sunday afternoon on the Bowersville diamond. Cline, Wilmington hurler, was wild, allowing eight passes while fanning nine batters.

K. Konklin was the starting pitcher for Bowersville but was replaced on the mound by Lucas in the sixth inning. Wilmington's eight runs came on as many hits. Errors on both sides aided the scoring.

Next Sunday Bowersville will meet the Park Athletics of Springfield at Bowersville. The game will be called at 2:45 o'clock. Lineups: Bowersville AB. R. H. E. E. Haughey, cf.....3 2 0 0 V. REV. MANTLE WILL DELIVER CEDAR DAY SPEECH AT COLLEGE

The Rev. W. N. Mantle, of New Jasper, a member of the senior class at Cedar Day College, will deliver the Cedar Day oration as one of the features of Cedar Day exercises, annual frolic of commencement week on the college campus, Wednesday, June 4.

The exercises will begin at 9 a. m. Selected for the honor by his classmates, Miss Lucile Tanner, Beaver Creek Twp., will preside over the festivities as May queen and will be crowned by last year's queen. The May queen is chosen annually from the senior class. The program will open with music by the college band under the leadership of Howard Platter, Osborn. This will be followed by folk dancing. A May pole dance and the rye dance will be given by "villagers on the green." Spring flowers will be impersonated in the colorful program to be presented by 100 students in gay costumes.

INSURANCE CASE IS APPEALED HERE

Appeal of the Inter-Ocean Casualty Co. from a decision of J. P. MacEwan, former Xenia Twp. justice of the peace, awarding Samuel Hawkins, colored, a judgment by default for $112, alleged balance due on an insurance policy which Hawkins claims he carried for ten years, was being heard by a jury in Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

Hawkins maintains that he lost the use of his right hand through an injury and is unable to perform any work. The claim is made that the insurance company paid him $96 at the rate of $8 a week but that the policy provides for twenty-six weeks of payment, leaving $112 still due.

MARY ANN HUTTSELL DAVIS was born April 5, 1841 in Montgomery County near Mt. Sterling, Ky. She was the daughter of Farney Dickey Cleveland and Mathias G. Huttsett. She was married to George W. Davis November 19, 1861, in Lexington, Ky., where they lived until moving to Ohio 25 years ago. Her husband died in 1912. She was the last member of an old Kentucky family, with a heart alive to all the beauties of Nature, and a mind of rare quality. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Post, Xenia, O., and Mrs. Frank Purcell, of Charlotte, N. C., four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. The funeral was from her late home at 2:30 Monday afternoon. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Burkett, pastor of the Friends Church of which she was a member for many years. Pallbearers were: Mr. Ham Fields, Mr. J. G. Dixon, Mr. H. H. Mansfield, Mr. W. E. Crawford, Dr. J. E. Brown, Mr. W. P. Maxwell.

THREE WIVES GIVEN DIVORCES IN COURT HERE; FIX ALIMONY

Three wives have been granted divorces in Common Pleas Court. On her cross-petition charging gross neglect of duty, Kathryn Turner obtained a divorce from Harry Turner and was awarded custody of their minor child, Harry.

M. J. Jr., with the understanding the father reserves the right to have the child visit him every other week-end from Saturday noon until Sunday night. An agreement between parties to the action that the plaintiff is to pay the defendant $200 alimony and also pay $3 a week for the support of the child was ratified by the court, which also ordered the defendant barred of dower in property owned by her husband.

Ocie Jane Gross was awarded a divorce from Richard E. Gross on grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty and under terms of the decree will have sole care and custody of their two minor children.

A charge of extreme cruelty won for Vada Collins a divorce from Ora E. Collins, the plaintiff being restored to her maiden name of Stewart.

HIGH HAT A RADIO ROMANCE

CHAPTER XLIV

"Miss Lee," the program director asked her in a tone as business-like as he would address any of the working girls around WWBC, "have you any of your fan mail here at the studio?"

Elanda's heart sank to the bottom of her shoes.

"Fan mail? No-no."

"I suppose you keep it all at home. Can you bring some of it in to me in the morning? I'd like to look it over. How many letters do you average a program?"

Elanda sat down weakly.

"Why—why, Mr. Fiske, isn't it too soon for me to begin to get fan mail? I've only been on five La Paloma programs." She knew it was a weak defense of herself, and blushed.

He looked up in utter surprise.

"You haven't had ANY fan mail at all? Why, that is very strange. Almost unbelievable." He stroked his little mustache thoughtfully when Elanda remained silent, dumb with embarrassment and humiliation.

"Well, then there is just cause for the advertising manager of the La Paloma Soap Company to call in to see me and ask me whether something can't be done to pep things up a bit. We will have to change the type of stuff you are doing. We'll have to give you some popular songs."

"Oh, no," Elanda gave a little cry of protest, "you aren't going to make me sing popular things, are you? I—I don't like it. I've never done it."

Fiske sat back and twiddled his thumbs a moment, before he answered her. When he did, he asked forcefully:

"Miss Lee, are you another of those would-be 'artists' who wants to earn a living with her voice and still think she'll be selling her birthright for a mess of pottage if she sings what the general public likes?"

Fiske leaned over and drummed a pencil on the table.

"You listen to me! I've been in this business ever since radio was born. There are millions and millions of Americans listening in on their radios every night who don't know a word of French or Italian or Spanish. They want to hear things they can understand. I don't blame them! They don't buy their radios to learn to be interpreters."

Elanda twisted her fingers and listened to him attentively. Her face was growing red, because he was treating her just as he would anyone else. After all, she was Greg Du Pont's fiancée. Didn't he realize that? In a little while she wouldn't be La Paloma. She would be Mrs. Gregory Du Pont, the third.

She was almost ready to beg his pardon coldly and get up and save what shreds of dignity she had left, when he went on:

"The La Paloma people wanted someone more like a blues crooner when they were looking for a Miss La Paloma. But Mr. Du Pont convinced them you were the type to do it, because you were pretty as well as talented."

"There's only one way we can save the day and give them full value for their money. That is for you to sing things that will appeal to the general public. The La Paloma people pay five thousand dollars an hour for the air alone—not counting the expense of a big symphony orchestra, the jazz or chitras and you and me. It wouldn't be honest business for us not to try our best to get that money back for them. Would it?"

"I suppose not," Elanda shook her head wretchedly, "but I just don't see how I can bear to sing that junk."

"Oh, be yourself!" he exploded, ungraciously. "You don't look like a girl who had been brought up to believe anything except art is not worth living for. Being high hat doesn't bring in the bacon, sister!"

Elanda, much against her wishes, and with her pride in ashes, left Fiske's office with several popular songs to learn.

It was the fact that she had not received any fan mail at all that had beaten her. She couldn't fight back with that awful thought confronting her.

She picked out a little studio, where she thought no one would come, to play the songs over. She read the titles with a sinking heart.

"Little Shuck in Dixie," "Fancy Our Loving Each Other," "Breakfast for Two in a Kitchen of Blue," "When You Kissed Me."

They were ballads and not blues. That at least helped some in so far as Elanda was concerned. But her pride had fallen into the dust at the thought of others hearing her sing them. And she always had boasted she wouldn't.

But she had a six months' contract as Miss La Paloma for one

"What are you doing with this sort of stuff?"

She choked, but she had to tell him the truth. He'd find it out anyway. So she tried to sound indifferent.

"I'm trying to learn it, Mr. Fiske is changing the type of the La Paloma program. I guess you were right in a way, after all, when you said I'd probably have to do some of this junk, too. Well, I can't help it. But I hate it!"

He stood behind her so that she could not see her face. How he wanted to laugh! He didn't feel sorry for her. It was probably one of the most humanizing things that ever had happened to the proud and conceited little beauty, he thought with pleasure.

"Let me sit down and run it over for you. I'll be easier than accompanying yourself. I'll be your ballad tutor!"

Elanda was amazed when he began to play. It was lovely. She wondered why he played a like when he could play the piano like that.

With her cheeks burning, but because she had to learn the songs for the following night, she began to sing. Occasionally he would stop her and suggest a different interpretation. It stung her pride.

"What are you doing with this sort of stuff?"

ORANGE SWIM ENDS IN RIOT

After Helen Long, left, and Winifred Palmer, both of Los Angeles, had swum through a tank laden with oranges in Anaheim, Cal., to win a trip to New York for the purpose of inviting Mayor Jimmy Walker to attend the California Valencia Orange Show in May, the unique contest ended in a near riot. Police had to break up a free-for-all when spectators began hurling oranges from the tank left and right.

UNITY NEEDED SAYS PROFESSOR HERE AT LUTHERAN CHURCH

"Members One of Another," was the title of a sermon delivered by Dr. Paul H. Heisey, professor of religious education at Wittenberg College, Springfield, in the First Lutheran Church here Sunday morning.

Members of the active and alumni chapters of Alpha Theta Alpha fraternity of Wittenberg were visitors at the local church, having been invited by the Rev. Adrian G. Lebold who is a member of the fraternity. Twenty members of the fraternity motored to Xenia to attend the services.

In developing his subject, Dr. Heisey showed how every group, congregation and community is interdependent one upon another in matters of physical, intellectual, moral, and spiritual life. He related Carlyle's famous illustration of the mother who sought alms and was refused, thus the community denied her sisterhood. In a very short while her children were taken down with typhus fever and the disease spread. Thus Carlyle says that she proved her sisterhood, when her children became the cause of the wide spread disease.

After showing that all people are bound together on the various levels of life, the head of the religious education department of Wittenberg pointed out that selfishness, ingratitude, malice, ennobishness, pride, prejudice, gossip, slander, indifference and cruelty mar the solidarity of a group. "As sin mars the oneness of the group, so the spirit of love enhances the unity of the group," declared Dr. Heisey. The spirit of love, the preacher suggested, is shown in fellowship, cooperation, sacrifice, and harmony in common interests.

Dr. Heisey indicated that while religion sometimes appeared divisive, yet the fundamentals of Christianity stood for unity; the brotherhood of God, the brotherhood of man, and the brotherhood of Jesus Christ. Throughout his sermon, the Wittenberg professor applied the thought of the value of unity to the visiting fraternity, to the congregation and to the community.

His middle name is "Love." All his fans testify that it suits him to perfection.

Was born in Greenville, Texas, Dec. 16. Has all the manners and charm of a true Southern gentleman.

Won his B. A. at the University of Texas. Was studying to be a doctor when war was declared, so joined the Intelligence Department.

The day before he sailed, borrowed $15 to marry the prettiest co-ed at the University of Texas—Marcelite Dobbs. When he came back two years later, felt as if he were meeting her for the first time.

Was "on duty" in London for fourteen days. And spent thirteen of them going to the theater. Wants to know who said, "war is hell."

Returned to Texas and tried to learn about the cotton business. Found himself thinking of his Glee Club days at college and the thirteen shows in London instead. Decided to become an actor—and starve for a living.

Another Rudy Became a French and singing teacher at a girls' academy on Long Island. Is a matter of record that more interest was evidenced in those two subjects during that year than at any other time during history of the school.

Went abroad again to study singing under Jean de Reszke and Oscar Seagle. Came back with $50 and the determination to land on Broadway.

Was playing in "Kitty's Kisses" when Gloria Swanson asked him to be her leading man in "Loves of Sonya." That was five years ago. Hasn't returned to stage since.

Has a "sweet tooth" but loathes to feel "comfortable" in his clothes, so counts his calories. Is a football fan. Never fails to occupy ringside seat at the Friday night stadium fights in Hollywood. Likes chamber music. "La Mads-on Grize," a French chansonette, is his favorite vocal selection.

His idea of Utopia is to be able to take a boat trip once a year. Is a grand person to have in the
